I am so sorry that some people didn't pick/their pictures and others paid in cheap pesos. I don't think it was worthwhile for Nemesio to have an exhibit here with the pesos having been so devaluated. And you can't charge in dollars either. Just wait for better times if they ever arrive. Anyway I expect Nora will tell us when to pick up the unsold paintings and then you can tell us what to do with them. Anyway now our accounts are finished.

I think it is fine about Guillermina's progress. Tell her that she must soon write me a letter and tell me what she has been doing. I would love to hear from her. Give her a big kiss from me.

Things have gone up a lot here so I didn't see any point in buying something here. Anyway you never answered me I just sent the money.

Love,

Mummy.
